INDEX

KEY TO THE SUMMARY OF HOSPITAL SEISMIC PERFORMANCE RATINGS

California state law requires hospitals to evaluate their facilities, develop plans to meet seismic standards and ensure that their buildings are seismically sound by specified deadlines. The state's original seismic safety law – the Alfred E. Alquist Facility Seismic Safety Act of 1973 (Alquist Act) – was passed in 1973. Significant amendments to the original law were passed in 1994.

Under these latest amendments to the Alquist Act, California's general acute care hospitals were required by law to evaluate and rate their hospital buildings for seismic performance and to submit these ratings to the California Office of Statewide Health Planning and Development (OHSPD) no later than January 1, 2001.

Hospitals evaluated and rated their buildings according to how they would perform in a strong earthquake. The ratings are defined as follows:

Structural ratings: These are ratings of the actual building's structure (Structural Performance Category—SPC)

SPC-0   The hospital evaluated this building but did not provide any rating in its report to OSHPD.

SPC-1   These buildings pose a significant risk of collapse and a danger to the public after a strong earthquake. These buildings must be retrofitted, replaced or removed from acute care service by January 1, 2008.

SPC-2   These are buildings in compliance with the pre-1973 California Building Standards Code or other applicable standards, but are not in compliance with the structural provisions of the Alquist Hospital Facilities Seismic Safety Act. These buildings do not significantly jeopardize life, but may not be repairable or functional following strong ground motion. These buildings must be brought into compliance with the Alquist Act by January 1, 2030 or be removed from acute care service.

SPC-3   These buildings are in compliance with the structural provisions of the Alquist Hospital Facilities Seismic Safety Act. In a strong earthquake, they may experience structural damage that does not significantly jeopardize life, but may not be repairable or functional following strong ground motion. Buildings in this category will have been constructed or reconstructed under a building permit obtained through OSHPD. They can be used to 2030 and beyond.

SPC-4   These are buildings in compliance with the structural provisions of the Alquist Hospital Facilities Seismic Safety Act that may experience structural damage which could inhibit the building's availability following a strong earthquake. Buildings in this category will have been constructed or reconstructed under a building permit obtained through OSHPD. They may be used to 2030 and beyond.

SPC-5   These buildings are in compliance with the structural provisions of the Alquist Hospital Facilities Seismic Safety Act, and are reasonably capable of providing services to the public following strong ground motion. Buildings in this category will have been constructed or reconstructed under a building permit obtained through OSHPD. They may be used without restriction to 2030 and beyond.

Non-structural ratings. These ratings cover a building's non-structural systems including communications, emergency power supplies, bulk medical gas, fire alarms and emergency lighting. Hospitals must anchor and brace these systems by January 1, 2002.

NPC-0   The hospital evaluated the building's non-structural components but did not report any rating.

NPC-1   In these buildings, the basic systems essential to life safety and patient care are inadequately anchored to resist earthquake forces. Hospitals must brace the communications, emergency power, bulk medical gas and fire alarm systems in these buildings by January 1, 2002.

NPC-2   In these buildings, essential systems vital to the safe evacuation of the building are adequately braced. The building is expected to suffer significant nonstructural damage in a strong earthquake.

NPC-3   In these buildings, nonstructural systems are adequately braced in critical areas of the hospital. If the building structure is not badly damaged, the hospital should be able to provide basic emergency medical care following the earthquake.

NPC-4   In these buildings, the contents are braced in accordance with current code. If the building structure is not badly damaged, the hospital building should be able to function, although interruption of the municipal water supply or sewer system may impede operations.

NPC-5   These buildings meet all the above criteria and have water and wastewater holding tanks—sufficient for 72 hours of emergency operations—integrated into the plumbing systems. They also contain an on-site emergency system and are able to provide radiological service and an onsite fuel supply for 72 hours of acute care operation.

COUNTY REPORT DETAIL KEY

The accompanying charts indicate (from left to right)

- The hospital's name, listed alphabetically within each county listing
- The total number of buildings contained in the hospitals evaluations and ratings
- The Structural Performance Rating (SPC) given each building (by the hospital), from 0 (no rating) to SPC 5.
- The Non-Structural Performance Rating (NPC) given each building (by the hospital), from NPC 0 (no rating) to NPC 5.
- Total Licensed Beds. This shows the number of bed licensed for the entire hospital.
- Total GAC-Licensed Beds. This shows the number of beds licensed as general acute care beds. To be licensed as a general acute care hospital, the facility must provide 24-hour in-patient care and include medical, nursing, surgery, laboratory, pharmacy, radiology, dietary and anesthesiology services.
- At the bottom of the last page, there is a grand total for all of these categories, covering all the reporting hospitals.
